Rethinking Behavior Support: Effective Interventions for Students with Anxiety-Related and Oppositional Behavior

Featuring MSSAA Presenter
Jessica Minahan, M.Ed, BCBA

Thursday, January 8, 2015
At the MSSAA Office, Franklin

Sign-In/Registration: 8:00 am to 8:30 am
Workshop: 8:30 am to 11:30 pm
Fees: Member $100/Non-Member $135

This workshop will focus on classroom interventions for students with anxiety-related and oppositional behaviors. Rather than responding with punishment and reward-based consequences, participants will gain an understanding of the students' challenges and learn strategies for teaching them how to cope. These interventions and strategies will allow students to improve their behavior by acquiring the necessary skills to make academic and behavioral progress. Case studies will be used to give participants the skills and information they need to assist in the creation of effective behavior plans.

The workshop will enable participants to:

- Describe why traditional behavior plans of reward and consequences often do not work for students with challenges such as anxiety-related and oppositional behavior.
- Learn how to identify anxiety in a student and intervene quickly enough to prevent them from escalating.
- Be able to create an effective behavior intervention plan for students with anxiety-related or oppositional behavior.

Jessica Minahan, MEd, BCBA, is a board-certified behavior analyst and special educator and Director of Behavioral Services at NESCA-Newton (MA) (Neuropsychology & Education Services for Children and Adolescents), as well as a school consultant to client's nationwide. She is also the author of The Behavior Code: A Practical Guide to Understanding and Teaching the Most Challenging Students, with Nancy Rappaport (Harvard Education Press, 2012) and a blogger for the Huffington Post. Since 2000 she has worked with students who exhibit challenging behavior in both their homes and public schools. She specializes in training staff and creating behavior intervention plans for students with mental health challenges. Her particular interest is to serve these students by combining behavioral interventions with a comprehensive knowledge of best practices for those with complex mental health profiles and learning needs.
